Center for Leadership

The Center for Leadership at FIU faculty and staff are dedicated to exploring leadership thought and practice through continuous research, providing opportunities for leaders to develop keen self-insight, and teaching leadership competencies that will equip them to meaningfully transform their organizations and their societies. Through research, executive development programs and community engagement opportunities, the Center for Leadership is committed to developing better leaders for a better world.

Better Leaders. Better World.

Research

To better understand the “new” leadership required in the modern world, the Center is constantly engaged in research initiatives to re-examine leadership best practices.

This commitment to research and best practices ensures that the Center remains responsive to current leadership needs and is well-equipped to offer practical and lasting solutions for effective leadership.

About The Center

The Center for Leadership at Florida International University is a nationally top-ranked center for leadership research, development, and training. The Center provides leaders and their team members with the competencies and solutions that equip them to positively and effectively transform themselves and their organizations. For six years The Center's leadership development programs have been ranked #1 among educational institutions in the U.S. by HR.com and the Leadership Excellence 500, in the custom or open-enrollment program categories. In 2019, the Center for Leadership also received the Silver Award for excellence in academic partnerships among international rankings by the Chief Learning Officer Group and in 2020 received the UPCEA South Region Award for our work with Miami-Dade County Public Schools principals. Our executive programs alumni include individuals from over 320 organizations around the world including the United States, Latin America, the Caribbean, Canada, Europe, and Africa. Program participants and alumni serve as a valuable resource for the Center for Leadership, providing vital feedback regarding latest trends, significant needs, and innovative ideas, all of which further inform research initiatives and program content.
